"This republican panic is hitting the working people pretty hard out in Missouri, and a great many people are anxious to get government positions that they may escape the ersults of bad legislation by a republican congress.

"The people are very much interested in the tariff bill and are much disappointed that it is not a downward revision, as they understood it would be. However, they are anxious to have the matter settled one way or the other.

The following resolutions were adopted by the congregation of the First Christian church Sunday, May

Whereas, Today marks the first anniversary of the pastorate of our beloved brother, A. W. Kokendoffer, and the labors and duties of the past year have been exceedingly arduous, and at times the situation discouraging, and such as no doubt made him feel undecided as to whether he was meeting with success or not. It therefore seems fit and proper that at the close of his first year's work, we, the congregation of the First Christian church, should give some expression of our satisfaction with his year's work.

During the entire year there has been, not a spasmodic, but a gradual and healthy increase of our membership. During the year sixty-eight new members have been taken into the

ATTITUDE TOWARD THE TRUSTS.

President Taft's new attorney gen eral, in a speech before the New York Bar association, has outlined the policy of this administration with regard to trusts. Mr. Wickersham declares that his department will prosecute sprang, the world is better for his vigorously all large combinations in restraint of trade, but he materially modifies the effect of this warning when he intimates that he will be scrupulously careful not to institute criminal proceedings in those cases where, in his estimation, there has been no willful violation of the antitrust laws.

This modification has brought about the ears of the attorney general serious criticism from the democratic press, for it is pointed out that it is almost impossible to discover evidence of a willful intent to disobey the law, and therefore his utterance amounts almost to an assurance that he will deal with the trust evil only through civil suits.

Experience has demonstrated that civil suits have small terror for the served in Sedalia Sunday, although men, who organize and perpetuate services in some of the churches were trusts. They are practically commer appropriate to the occasion. Similar cial gamblers and compared with the services will be held at the Fifth Jarge stakes for which they play, the paltry fines imposed in civil suits are a mere bagatelle. Charlotte Polonaise Requires Some Care, But Will Be Highly Appreciated-For Velvet Cream and Prune Souffle.

Charlotte Polonaise.—Take the yolks of six eggs, two large spoonfuls of cornstarch, and 11/2 pints of cream. Beat the yolks till light, add the cornstarch and cream, and boil slowly till it is the time to prevent it becoming lumpy Divide the mixture into two parts. Make a chocolate filling of four to six punces of checolate, sweetened to taste, and one-quarter pound of macaroons. Add to the mixture and let it boil up, then set aside to cool. With the other half make an almond filling of one dozen bitter almonds, one-quarter pound sweet almonds, one-quarter pound of citron, and one-quarter pound of sugar. Blanch and pound the almonds to a paste with the citron. Stir In the sugar and the rest of the mixture and let it come to a boil, then set aside to cool. Make six layers of white cake by any good recipe. When baked cut the centers out, making a goodsized hole in each for the filling. Spread one layer thickly with the chocolate mixture, another with the almond filling, and stack them, being very careful to put the mixture very thick on top. Cover the whole with a thick meringue and set in the oven to harden. Remove from oven and let it cool. Make a fling of one quart of STRIPES-LOEWER'S TAILOR.

LAWYERS, NOW IN CELLS, GOT $500,000, SAY THE WASH. INGTON POLICE.

EMBEZZLEMENT SAID TO BE GROWING

John C. Davis Maintains Innocence -Brother, Also Under Arrest, Says His Relative Can Pay All Claims.

Washington, May 10.-More than $500,000 is the amount now claimed by the police to have been illegally disposed of by John D. Davis, a lawyer, who is under arrest here, charged with embezzlement and conspiracy.

Davis' alleged victims are mostly aged women. The police say they have documentary evidence to the effect that the prisoner has obtained large sums of money not only from Washington women, but residents of Alexandria, Va.; Cincinnati New York and other cities.

More than fifty letters, most of them written by clients who insist upon immediate settlement, were confiscated by the police and they will be offered as evidence when Davis is brought to trial.

Martin T. Davis, brother of the accused who is under arrest, and who is said to be secretary of the Potomac Building and Loan association says his brother John can account for every penny that has been intrusted to his keeping.

It was in this association, the police say, that John C. Davis supposedly invested most of the money he obtained from his clients.

Inquiry at all the large banks, the police say, elicited the information that Davis has no account with them. Several days before his arrest Davis was seen to enter a trust company's building with a package under his over. Fill the hole and let the cream coat, and the detectives working on come above the cake. The remainder the case are of the opinion that he may have secreted the money in a pri-

Oyster Shortcake. Sift three cups of flour with three rounding teaspoons of baking powder and one level teaspoon salt. Work in three rounding teaspoons butter with a fork and gradually stir in one cup of milk. Roll out one-third inch thick and cut with a biscuit cutter. Spread butter upon half of them and cover with the other half. Bake in hot oven. Split open and place between two tablespoons of creamed oysters. Serve hot with a sprig of parsley on the Bancroft Hash.

Chip in small pieces three cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes (do not chop) Make one pint of cream or milk gravy season with salt and pepper. Thicken this as for the table and stir in the potatoes, being careful not to break them; then turn into a buttered bake dish and lightly mix in 11/2 cups of cooked corn beef, chopped fine; add two tablespoons of parsley, mix lightly. Put in the oven and bake for 20 minutes. Serve in the bake dish.

Griddle Cakes.

Three cups thick sour milk. Beat with it two and one-half teaspoons (level) of soda until it forms. One beat n egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon molasses, flour enough for latter. I don't measure it, but? about three cups, perhaps a little more. Mix at night and let stand until morning.

Put Paper on Ice. If you want to keep desserts on top of the ice place a newspaper over the ice, and your dishes never slip off or tip over.

GARDEN THAT IRVING LOVED.

Writer's Pride and Pleasure in Old- | accuracy-something impossible in a Fashioned Grounds at Home in Sunnyside.

The gardens at Sunnyside, planned by Washington Irving, followed the old fashioned order. He loved a riot of color, and the plants and flowers which he frequently cultivated and watered repaid him with their best. Over the porch clambered vines that he trained with his own hand. One of these, brought by a friend from Abbotsford, and said to have been taken there from Melrose abbey, was his particular delight. It climbs there still, shading the porch and the iron porch chair -and that, too, is there-in which Irv-Mrs. W. M. Craig received a mes- ing used to sit in the long drowsy sum-

But the gardens themselves have disappeared in more formal plantings. Sunnyside, also, under the radical improvements ordered by the author's grand-nephew, is scarcely recognizable for the house that Irving left. While still occupied by descendants of the author, it is no longer their property.

White-Faced Girls.

Powder is worn more than usual this spring. This fashion note can be observed on the faces of the average girl from 18 to 23 years old anywhere in town, says the New York Times. Just what or who is responsible for the introduction of this purely Parisian facial fad is not easily ascertained. But the result is to give the average young woman one sees on Broadway or Fifth avenue an effect of unwholesomeness-almost ghastliness in fact-that is decidedly unpleasant. Of course, the observer only has time to note that it is the lower part of these girls' faces that is unadorned with this deathlike mask. The upper part almost invariably is hidden by the drooping brims of the peach-basket or coal-scuttle

New Kind of Tape Measure. Tape measures are so useful and indispensable to the dressmaker in their present form that it would seem as if it were impossible to improve on their construction. Yet this has been very easily accomplished in a tape measure recently patented by a New York man. A short piece of flexible, springy material is combined with the end of the limb tape measure. The end is thus made self-supporting. The value of thus having a small portion of the end of the tape-measure stiff and unbendable will be apparent where small measurements are to be made; the necessity of holding the end of the tape measure is eliminated. The measuring can also be accom-

The Springfield Republican calls attention to the irreparable losses caused by the fire in the City of Mexico which destroyed the building where the chamber of deputies had met since 1872. Among the documents that were burned were the constitution of 1861, which was signed at Chilpancingo and for many years was guarded in the state archives in that city: the act of independence, signed in 1821 when Iturbide entered Mexico; the constitution of 1824, the constitution of 1857, under which the latterday reforms were initiated, and the signatures of the heroes of Mexican independence and Mexican history.

CATS ANCIENT AND MODERN.

Experts Differ as to the Species That the Egyptian Knew as Household Pets.

Experts have held that the so-called 'cat" of the ancient Romans and Greeks ("ailurus," the wavy-tailed one) was not a cat at all, but a kind of weasel. The mummified Egyptian animal, however, was a genuine cat,

NEW ARRIVALS IN SUITINGS-LATEST PATTERNS IN GREYS-LOEWER'S, TAILOR.

Reno, Nev., May 10 .- At an early hour Sunday morning a lone masked man entered the Hammontree livery and ordered A. L. Hamontree, the proprietor, and M. Victor to line up against the wall.

The robber then searched them and took $85 in cash and a gold watch. Before the search was finished Jack Munroe, recently arrived from China, with relatives in New York, came into the back part of the stable leading a horse. With an oath the bandit wheeled upon Munroe and shot him in the groin.

Opposed to Intermarriage of Christians and Jews.

New York, May 10 .- Dr. Leon Harrison, of Temple Israel, St. Louis, stoutly opposed the intermarriage of Jews and Christians in a sermon Sunday at the Free synagogue. Fusion, he said, would only result in confusion, while "intermarriage would simply mean, not that the vast majority would be drawn to Israel, but that we of Israel would be overwhelmingly lost in Christiandom."

SENATOR WAS DOWN THE ROW

Governor of State Outranks the Representative in the Upper Branch of Congress.

Many people will be surprised to

A few years ago the new senator from Vermont, Carroll S. Page, was crossing the Atlantic with the late Senator Redfield Proctor in the Cunard steamship Campania. They had, of course, seats at the captain's table. Senator then (Governor) Page was surprised to find himself occupying the post of honor, with Senator Procto seated further down the table.

This the modest governor of the Green Mountain state thought was not explaining that there must be some error, as his friend was a United States senator and his superior in rank. He was told that a governor outranks a senator.-National Magazine.

CAPITOL'S PRIVATE BAR

"FOR LADIES ONLY" IS SIGN ON THE ENTRANCE TO SEN-ATE SALOON.

SAID NEGRO JANITOR GUARDS THE ROOM

Lawmakers Too Busy to Go Up Town for a Smile, So They Have It Delivered at Now Famous Legislative Thirst Parlor.

Here's an interesting piece of gossip from Jefferson City, printed in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of Sunday:

The casual remark of a state senator to one of his colleagues today revealed the existence of an elaborate buffet for lawmakers in the rear of the senate chamber.

Printed on the door of the logislative thirst parlor are these words:

FOR LADIES ONLY.

Today a brewery wagon paused at the west entrance to the capitol building and the driver proceeded to unload several cases of beer. A state official, leaving the building at the time, quizzically inquired if the contents were to be used as exhibits in the prohibition fight.

'No-siree," answered the driver. "Them's to be drank today, and I got orders to bring more Monday."

At this moment a tall, stout negro who was recognized as one of the numerous senate janitors, appeared. "Got 'em all?" queried the negro.

"Yep," responded the driver. "Take them right up, then," said the negro. "You know the number,

Room 45 is the "Ladies Only" apartment and it appears to have been doing a rushing business for the past. month. It was learned that the brewery vehicle is a daily visitor at the capitol building and that one of the St. Louis distillers supplies most of the wet goods.

During a detate in the senate today somebody suggested that as a certain senator was not feeling well he ought to "See John Moore."

John is the janitor who has charge of the liquid dispensation. He keeps the door locked and produces the key only at the personal request of a sen-

Guarding the "Ladies Only" resort is about all John does to earn his state stipend of $2.50 a day.

One of the senate leaders explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that some of the "boys" are just celebrating a little as the senate draws to a close. He pointed out that a similar buffet was run back of the senate chamber two years ago.

"I don't see any occasion for mentioning the matter at all," he said. "It is a long way up town to get a drink and you know the boys are so busy now they haven't time to make

"For convenience I suppose a few of them have it sent over to the capitol building. I presume the 'Ladies Only' sign is to keep everybody

Senators have observed the most extreme secrecy regarding the senate buffet, giving strict orders to Moore not to permit outsiders to have a drink under any circumstances. To extend hospitalities, they held, would give the whole "snap" away.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 141.

This is a copy of a letter recently written to a leading business firm of Sedalia:

Decatur, Ill., May 5, 1909. G. C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, Mo.

Dear Sir:-Yours of the 20th with reference to the condition of our city since local option has been in force, received, and in reply will say that we adopted this dry system a year ago, and the law since has been fairly executed. Not nearly so many arrests and very much less drunkenness. Business of every description in the city has not been better, never more money, and prosperity has been at the very pinnacle, although we have had kickers galore in the saloon element. Real estate, it seems to me, took a jump from the very announcement of local option, and we have never had such a building boom in the city of Decatur as the year 1908. Over 500 new houses have been built since local option went into effect and on a poll taken two weeks ago there was only 200 vacant houses in the whole city. We estimate that our city has increased during this time not less than 3,000 to 4,000, and as a result of our election yesterday, after the hottest contest that we ever had; our democrat, who ran on the Law Enforcement ticket, defeated the republican 81 votes, whilst the city is 1,110 republican as a rule. The result of yesterday's vote will have a telling effect, in our affiliation. There is not a business house in the business district in the city vacant, and rents have materially advanced. Plenty of store-rooms rent for $200 and $250 a month for the ground floor only. The best saloon stand in the city rented, after being vacated, for commercial purposes for a very material advance over what the saloon was paying.

judgment, all over the state of Illinois, and assures local option carrying one more year, when it will be voted on again, stripped from either politica.

The parties interested in business with me own about 10 or 12 store-rooms and every one is occupied at regular price; but under no circumstances would any of them be rented for a saloon. Since local option went into effect I have been able to sell every dollar of my store-room property at a good figure, which I never could do

Aside from business interests we think the moral aspect of the city is the most weighty of all and speaks more to the credit of local option than all other interests combined. We had the Sunday meetings near and there was probably 5,000 or 6,000 men professed christianity and those men, many of whom were drunkards, are now sober, industrious men, earning a living for their families. Personally, I could not be induced with a money conlicensing of the saloons in Decatur. Trusting I have answered your queries satisfactorily, we are

Sincerely yours, DECATUR COFFIN CO. T. T. Roberts, Sec'y.

It really looks queer that any man with a brain as big as a walnut would fail to see that to stop the saloon from collecting the money in Sedalia or any other city and sending it to the brewer could do anything else BUT help business. THE DRYS.

When coal is about seven dollars a ton, a furnace will be finicky and pernickety in its appe tite, demanding only a few shovelfuls now and then, but when coal roams up into the altitudes of financial affairs the furnace will be as eager for it as a girl is for hothouse grapes and imported melons in January.

The duty of a furnace is to heat the house wherein it may be. It stands however, between love and duty. loves the coal so much that it neglects its duty at times. When the mercury goes down and sulks at the bottom o the bulb the furnace will grow sad and moody, meditating upon the good old summer time, and will quite forget that there are heat pipes running aimlessly through the walls. But let a warm wave come along and the furnace will grow repentant and say to itself that it will make amends. Immediately all the windows have to be opened and people four blocks away get out their summer apparel. A furnace will burn one ton of coal and produce thereform four tons of ashes, which accumulate in the corner of the cellar until a colored gentleman comes along and offers to car ry them out for a king's ransom.

LAWYER JEROME IS IN THE SADDLE NOW

Will He Land in the Mayor's Chair?-Systematic Poisoning of Horses -Sporting Pages Scanned for Baseball News.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York May 10.-Ten of the most gloomy days that ever chilled the spring spirits of the people of this island have today left recorded more cases of suicide for this period than have ever been reported in all the annals of the metropolis.

In almost a hundred instances the dreary pressure of this sunless opening of May has driven the life-weary to the point of death by their own hands in every section of town.

It is asserted by the coroners, who are today telling of this sad harvest, that the suicide mania always varies according to the ratio of sun and

One touch of spring sunshine is all that is needed now to save the life as well as health in this weather-plagued city.

> Lawyer Jerome's Jump. Democratic political history is being shaped here today in the remarkable resurrection of William Travers Jerome as a militant campaigner, it is admitted by the most experienced party sages.

With his peculiar genius for catchng hold of the people, Jerome may become a dangerous contender in the mayoralty or even more ambitious courses, it is conceded. Whatever the outcome may be, every political leader in Gotham will keep a sharp and steady eye on the future public evolutions of this master campaigner.

Gotham Grows in Every Way

More than a million men, women and children are today making new homes throughout the big boroughs of Greater New York. May moving has just begun to slack on every block of this town and an emergency army of truckmen are getting their first chance for a wink of sleep or a bite to eat since the gigantic home upheaval began two weeks ago.

This year the moving men report an exodus from the narrow confines of this island to the suburbs, which counts it families by the thousands. New tenants have flocked in to fill every empty niche of the uptown apartment stretches, however the rec-

Fed from the huge influx into the metropolis from the outer world, both city streets and rising regions of suburbs seem to have taken to themselves this year new regiments of population. The growth of Gotham is already promising to overtax every building.

Cowardly Crooks at Work.

To subject scores of horses to lingering agony and final death by poicriminals whose operations the police of this city have today set out to check.

No one can imagine a motive for this systematic series of poisonings which have just culminated in the agonized death of half a dozen blooded saddle horses at a riding school over in Brooklyn. Revenge for refusal to comply with secret demands for money is believed by the police authorities to inspire these cowardly murders of defenseless animals.

The decision of the supreme court in the so-called commodities clause of other blow at the consumer and a victory for the railroads, although

This clause was enacted in order to tion which the railroads commonly practiced against those who sought to compete with them in any side line in which they were engaged, especially in the production of coal. Many railroads own extensive coal mines. Where this was the case any private owner of a mine was almost certain to receive an offer of a very moderate price for his mine. If he refused to sell he found himself hampered on

The railroad simply could not supply him with cars. His shipments got side tracked and his coal arrived so late that he broke his contracts and in some instances he was completely undersold by the railroad which could haul its own coal free.

Finally, finding himself on the verge of ruin, the private mine owner would give up the fight and sell his mine to the railroad at its own price.

A provision in the commodities clause provided that a railroad not only must haul its own coal, but it must not haul that of any company in which it was "directly or indirectly interested."

The supreme court decides that this does not prevent a company from holding stock in a corporation which orerates a mine and hauling the coal of that corporation.

In other words, under the decision, railroad need only organize a subsidiary to own the mine and then own the company.

The attorney general points out that this is a consistent decision, as the courts have always held that owning stock in a company does not constitute a legal interest therein. He says, however, that if the law had provided that holding stock must be regarded as having an interest therein within the meaning of the law, the law would have been effective. President Taft will ask congress so to amend the law. The question naturally arises, therefore, why did not the men who framed the law, and who were law-

'THREE WEEKS' IS INDECENT

So Decided Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts.

Defendant was convicted of selling certain printed book, entitled "Three Weeks," alleged to contain obscene, indecent and impure language manifestly tending to the corruption of the morals of youth.

The characters in the book were involved in what would be termed illicit relations in law, but were designated as "love" by the author.

In Commonwealth vs. Buckley, 86 Northeastern Reporter, 910, the supreme judicial court of Massacausetts sustained the judgment, concluding that an author who raises the curtains of the adulterous bed can find no fault if the jury say that not the spiritual but the animal, not the pure but the impure, will appear most conspicuously to the general reader.

It may be that the literary style of the book is such that many a reader finds that the most attractive feature. and the thinly veiled allusions to the desire for sexual intercourse and to the arts of seduction leading to it may be unheeded by him, but the reading public as a whole will probably not so regard it.

LAKE TO BE OIL INSPECTOR

Office Paying $3,500 a Year to Go to Hadley's Private Secretary.

Jefferson City, May 10.-Rush C Lake, private secretary to Governor Hadley, is slated for the position of state coal oil inspector at a salary of $3,500 a year.

The bill creating this office, with six deputy inspectors at a salary of $125 a month each, has passed both houses and is ready for the governor's signature.

The inspection charge is 12 cents a barrel, the amount fixed by the present law. Under the old law there have been more than twenty inspectors scattered over the state, including the Susquehanna river within sight of the St. Louis inspector, whose fee income is $7,000 a year. The fees barely paid the inspectors' salaries.

Governor Hadley thinks the next statute will produce $75,000 or $100,the swift current. 000 for the state treasury.

BABY IN A BALE OF COTTON

Caught in Press and Exported—Father Had Spent All in Search.

Galveston, Texas, May 10.--The finding of the dead body of a baby in a bale of cotton at Manchester, England, mills, is believed to be the solution of the disappearance of a 2year-old son of George P. Hartman in Gillespie county, Texas, last Decem-

The boy accompanied the father to a gin, where the father had several bales of cotton pressed. The child was lost and never found and the father spent all he had searching for tidings of his child, without result.

It is now surmised that in some way the child got into the cotton press and was crushed to death in a bale of cotton. The Hartmans moved from Texas a few months ago to

The description of the body and clothes answered to that of the Hartchancery court and was subjected to man child. The English cotton mills traced the bale to a broker in Texas, who in turn traced it back to the gin and to the fact that it was the product of Gillespie county.

SOUP OF CHICKEN OR VEAL

Nourishing Dish Made with Either In gredient-Mutton Broth as It Should Be Prepared.

To make veal soup, cut up one pound of veal in small pieces, break one knuckle of veal well, put into a saucepan with six cupfuls of water. Bring to the boil and skim carefully; add one slice of turnip, and boil for at least six hours very gently. Strain the soup, add one tablespoonful of tapioca, and boil for 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Put the yolks of two eggs in a small basin and beat wel for five minutes, add one gill of cream, stir well together. Take a cup of the soup and stir it in gradually among the eggs and cream, then pour all the soup among it; also add salt to taste and it is ready.

To make mutton broth, cut up one pound lean mutton in small pieces, put it into saucepan with one quart of cold water, add two ounces of pea barley that has been washed. Let it simmer for five hours. Then strain it and remove all the fat from the top. It is better to stand till quite cold before doing this. Put it on then to boil, add half a cupful of milk, and little finely chopped parsley; season to taste with salt and pepper. Chicken is very good cooked in the

Poe and Darwin Interest Berlin.

A number of interesting events in the German book and literary world have occurred during the past week. Everywhere there are evidences of the recognition by Germans of Darwin and Poe, the seventy-fifth birthday of Haeckel having stirred up Wilhelm Bolsche, Max Apel, Eduard David, Bruno Wille, Rudolf Penzig and F. Naumann to prepare a volume of essays on Darwin and his time (Berlin: Die Hilfe), and Hedda and Arthur Moeller-Bruck having translated Poe' works, in ten volumes (Minden: J. C. Brun's Verlag), and written a biography, in which they accept practically the French view of the author of "The Raven," and place him, with Goethe and Balzac, at the dawn of his country's art. Theodor Etzel has added an attractive volume of translations, "Edgar Allan Poe: Gedichte" (Munich Georg Muller), which echo very faith fully the rhythm and sense of the originals.-From a Berlin Letter to the New York Times.

"SIBERIA" Refrigerators

Sectional view of "Siperia" Refrigerator

Here's a refrigerator with a new principle-or rather, a great improvement on an old one. Look at the sectional cut and see what it is and what it does.

Refrigerators, as commonly built, have but one return air current to the ice chamber. The "Siberia" Refrigerator has two. It starts its cold air circulation at the center, whence it drops to the bottom, divides and returns to the ice chamber through flues on each side. Thus the volume of cold air is increased and the time necessary for complete circulation lesseneda condition which must result in quick cooling, complete elimination, of odors, and perfect food preservation. "Siberia" Refrigerators are built of northern ash, solid brass trimmings, nickel plated, ballbearing castors, adjustable metal shelves and rustless drip pipes.

TO PENITENTIARY TO SHIELD A SISTER

The Slaying of Planter Ended Twenty Years of Unspeakable Parental Cruelty-An Early Pardon Considered Probable.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 10 .- Steohen Beasley has begun the serving of a five years sentence in the Texas state prison for the slaving of his father. He need not have gone to pris on, for every man, from judge to jury, tried to set him free. But he chose prison to save his sister the hu- THE FOUR LAST SPIKES WERE miliation for telling the reason for the crime.

The slaying was done in the elder Beasley's cotton field a week and a half ago. It ended twenty years of such parental cruelty as has seldom been known in a civilized land.

Beasley, the father, was wealthy. His cotton and yam fields extended for miles along the outskirts of Fort Worth. But he never hired a man to till them. He forced his wife and five children to be his farm hands and since they could first hold a hoe, not one has remembered a day when he or she was not driven to work, with the whip, if necessary. Three of these children were girls, and on these Beasley vented his tyranny even more than on the boys. Neighbors had for years known that none of them came home from the field at night without a whipping, and screams from the house at night told plainly the story of a mother beaten because she had haps showed more faith and enthus!been caught comforting her children after the father had sent them bleed.

Two weeks ago the mother was ter, and the son, Stephen, ran away from the torture to take work with another farmer near by. The next watch upon her, and, staggering to the farm house where her mother was living, told a story of her father having done her the greatest possible plexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just ing done her the greatest possible Clarence R. The mother sent word to Stephen the elder son. When his work in the fields was finished next day the lad took down his rifle and walked to his father's farm, where he hid behind a wall. When Beasley appeared, riding a horse from a distant part of his plantation his son shot him.

The other brother and the sister ran from the house to find Beasley ly ing dead among the cotton sprouts, Baker & Estabrook sells both Vig. while Stephen walked slowly down the road. "I want this man liberated-he community," said Roy. "But he must be brought to trial, or he will always be in peril, until he is legally acquitted. If he is brought to trial, I will use my influence as prosecuting attorney to save him."

So a second grand jury was called. The mother, who was ill, was unable to give her testimony, and Stephen was indicted for murder in the first degree and brought to trial.

There was not the slightest doubt of Stephen's acquittal. The crowd in the court room was there simply to a source of joy, but the suffer- cheer him and proclaim him a hero when he was set free.
